SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

The editor, Dr Doherty, is aware that authors submitting manuscripts before 1 April 1992 might have experienced considerable delays in the processing of their work. Those who have not yet received a decision, or any communication from the Nottingham office, are invited to communicate directly with the editor (Tel: 0602 857 112. Fax: 0602 857 104) so that outstanding problems may be resolved.

Dear Colleague:

Five of the nine scientific papers in this September issue of Annals of the Rheumatic Diseases are devoted to rheumatoid arthritis.

Clinical significance of rheumatoid factors in early rheumatoid arthritis: results of a follow up study. p. 1029.

Characteristics of immunocompetent cells in synovial membranes from multiple sites in patients with rheumatoid arthritis. p. 1066.

Studies advancing the understanding of rheumatoid arthritis are typical of those featured in this complimentary journal series, brought to you by CIBA-GEIGY.

Sincerely,

Jerrold Bernstein, MD, PhD

Advice to contributors

Communications This journal exists to publish work on all aspects of rheumatology and disorders of connective tissue. Laboratory as well as clinical studies are welcome. In addition brief communications, for example reports of single cases, will be printed if of exceptional interest.

Papers, which will be accepted on the understanding that they have not been and will not be published elsewhere and are subject to editorial revision, should be addressed to The Editor, Dr A K Thould, Department of Rheumatology, Royal Cornwall Hospital (City), Truro, Cornwall TR1 2HZ. Each author must sign the covering letter as evidence of consent to publication. Three copies should be supplied, one a typed top copy, including three copies of any figures, tables, and illustrations. It is also necessary to provide three copies of any manuscripts together with their figures that have been revised by authors after editorial comment. All authors will be required to transfer copyright of their articles to the journal before publication.

Articles and letters must be typewritten on one side of the paper only, in double spacing with ample margins. Only recognised abbreviations should be used.

'Viewpoint' articles are intended to present a personal view, in not more than 1500 words, of themes currently interesting rheumatologists. Contributions of this kind are welcome, but it is suggested that readers wishing to submit such articles should first discuss their subject and scope with the Editor.

'Rapid Reports' Short reports will be considered for publication within three months of acceptance. These should report completed work and be capable of accommodation within two pages of the journal, e.g. 800 words+10 references+a small figure or table. Authors will not see proofs but will be consulted about major amendments. Original artwork should be provided.

SI units Work should be reported in SI units.

Abstracts Provide on a separate page an abstract of not more than 250 words, consisting of four paragraphs entitled Background, Methods, Results, and Conclusions. They should briefly describe, respectively, the problem being considered in the study, how the study was performed, the salient results, and what the authors conclude from the results.

References In accordance with the Vancouver agreement references, which must be typed double spaced, are cited by the numerical system.

A paper (or book) cited in the text is referred to there by a superscript number. In the list of references the papers (or books) appear in the numerical order in which they are cited in the text, not in alphabetical order by authors' names. For convenience in preparing the typescript the reference number may be typed between parentheses on the line, not superscript. The titles of journals are abbreviated in accordance with the style of Index Medicus. In the typescript they should either be abbreviated in that style or given in full. Consult the reference lists in the Journal for examples. Responsibility for the accuracy and completeness of references lies with the author.

Illustrations must be marked on the back with the author's name, numbered, in the same order as they are cited in the text, and have the top indicated. All lettering and symbols on their face must be inserted by the author and be large enough for reproduction on the page. Radiographs must be submitted as prints. Legends must be typed in double spacing on a separate sheet and include for photomicrographs the stain used. Magnification should be indicated by a bar marker on the figure. Coloured illustrations are published only in exceptional circumstances, and the cost is charged to the author.

Tables Each table should be on a separate sheet, have a heading, and contain no vertical rules.

Proofs Contributors will receive ONE proof, and should read it carefully for printer's errors. Alterations to the original text should be kept to a minimum and may be charged to the author.

Reprints may be ordered from the Publishing Manager when the proofs are returned.
