Symposium on Rheumatic Diseases in the Community and in Hospital

London Hospital, May 3, 1973

It is hoped that all clinical members of the Heberden Society will be able to attend and that each member will invite a general practitioner from his area. There will be opportunities for full discussion and it is important that general practice should be well represented at this study of the inter-relationship of the consultant and general practitioner in the treatment of rheumatic disorders.

Particular may be obtained from Mr M. C. G. Andrews, General Secretary, Faraday House, 8 Charing Cross Road, London WC2 OHN.
