Conclusion: This multicentre randomised clinical trial showed that a serious puzzle game aimed at reinforcing a positive attitude towards DMARDs was frequently played during three months. Playing the game did not improve medication adherence nor influenced beliefs about medication or clinical outcomes in RA patients.

REFERENCES:
[1] https://www.atrialregister.ni/atrial/7217

Disclosure of Interests: Bart Pouls: None declared, Charlotte Bekker: None declared, Johanna E. Vriezekolk: None declared, Sandra van Dulmen: None declared, Bart van den Ber M. Speakers bureau: UCB, Pfizer, Sanoft-Aventis, Galapagos, Amgen en Eli Lilly